

The Clallam County Junior Livestock Auction

When you support the CCJLA, you are investing in our youth and their future. This is an opportunity to contribute to our local community and take advantage of a tremendous networking opportunity for your business. Through the CCJLA program youth learn important character development, such as responsibility, respect, trustworthiness, fairness, citizenship, and caring. To raise a livestock project, members must commit to the daily care of their animals. Many youth members save a substantial portion of their profits to use towards college expenses which makes your purchase an investment in the future of our next generation.

All animals must meet a strict set of rules adopted by the CCJLA Committee.

Some of these rules include:

- Overall food quality
- Age of animal
- Weight of animal
- Animal Health

Choose one or more of the following methods to show your support for the youth.

Method One:

Bidding at Auction

Hogs, Lambs, Steers, & Goats are sold by the pound.

Turkeys, Ducks, & Rabbits are sold by Animal.

Chickens are sold by Pen of three

Honey is sold by bottle (3)

Harvesting, cutting, wrapping, and curing/smoking of the meat is paid for separately by the purchaser at a meat shop.

You can sign up to buy now or at the auction.

If you cannot make it to the Auction, ask about proxy bidding.

Method Two:

Purchase & "Turn" the Animal.

After buying you may "Turn" your purchase to a wholesale buyer and only pay the difference between the "wholesale value" and your bid price. This does not affect what the youth receives.

Method Three: Add On

You can choose to make a financial donation to a participant to help support their project, or to a group of participants, or to all participants participating in a specific species or a general donation to the auction to be shared by all participants as a blanket donation.

The CCJLA is a non-profit organization. Some, or all your support may be tax deductible.
